

STOP CLUSTER MUNITION USE IN YEMEN

In 2015 and 2016 91% of all known cluster munition casualties in Yemen were civilians including deminers, of which at least 22% were children

For more than a year the Saudi-led coalition has repeatedly used internationally banned cluster munitions in Yemen

Following the use of cluster munitions in Sana'a, the capital of Yemen on 8 January 2016,

UN Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon expressed his deep concern and insisted that:

"The use of cluster munitions in populated areas may amount to a war crime due to their indiscriminate nature."
